Ranchers along the boundary line are offering to give cattle away as the drouth and consequent prairie fires make starvation almost certain.

The republicans have carried the State elections in North and South Dakota and Washington. Montana is doubtful but is claimed by the Democrats.

BATTLEFORD, October 3.

The Indian treaty payments in this district will begin on the 8th instant.

Rev. Mr. Matheson of Battleford has been appointed one of his chaplains by the Bishop of Saskatchewan.

A number of coyotes that are hanging about the vicinity of the town are playing havoc with sheep. They have been working on J. M. Skelton's flock, and last week they destroyed an imported ram and four of the best ewes belonging to R. C. Laurie while his band were away from home, afterwards following up the sheep and killing two more.

SASKATOON, October 4.

The railway bridge has been located at Saskatoon, but the track avoids the present town site. On the west side the surveyors are locating the road on a direct line to Prince Albert, and will pass Clark's crossing at five or six miles distance. The survey will be completed to Prince Albert this fall.

At the auction sale of town property on Thursday afternoon the dwelling lately occupied by W. S. Robertson with 3 lots was sold to D. McLeod for $550. The building at present occupied by Dr. Tofteld, with 3 lots, was sold to Malcolm McLeod for $325. Lot 32 in block 4 was withdrawn from sale. John McL. Peacock was auctioneer.

In response to a telegram from Senator Hardisty received on Friday morning, Mrs. Hardisty left at once for Calgary and Winnipeg. Mrs. W. L. Wood, accompanied her to Calgary. It was intended to catch the train of Sunday morning, if possible. McCauley & Ibbotson furnished the transport, M. McCauley driving.

D. L. CLINK arrived from Battleford on Tuesday with a band of about seventy beef cattle, work oxen and cows, purchased chiefly in the Carrol river district near Prince Albert. Feed and water are scarce along the trail. The road north of the river from Pitt was taken in order to secure abundance of the latter.

H. GIBBORNE and Mr. and Mrs. Ridgedale left on Friday for Battleford per skiff. The river is very low, so that the trip will not be made under the most favorable circumstances.

THE quantity of potatoes required for police supply has been reduced from 6,000 to 3,000 pounds at Edmonton and from 26,500 pounds at Fort Saskatchewan to 14,000 pounds.

AN experienced gardner says that if turnip seed is soaked for twenty-four hours in coal oil before being sown, it will grow as well as if not so treated and the turnip fly will not attack the plant.

THE latest received report says that Senator Hardisty has been improving steadily since reaching Winnipeg. It is now thought the injury is not as serious as at first supposed. He is quite cheerful and suffers no pain.

THE crops on the Indian reserves are turning out poorly this season. On the Stony Plain reserve Enoch, the chief has a good field of wheat and one of his men has a good field of barley. The rest of the crops are very poor.

THE Calgary Tribune of September 25th mentioned that two men from Edmonton were fined $25 each for disorderly conduct on the street. They had further to answer to a charge of resisting the policeman in the discharge of his duty.

THE Dominion Illustrated, of September 4, contains a page of cuts illustrative of sauteaux Indian's encampment, Lake Manitoba, engraved from photos by J. B. Tyrell, B. A., F. G. S. Accompanying these cuts is an article on the Sauteaux Indians from the pen of the late Hon. John Niquay, written and mailed only the day before his death.

W. GORDON CUMMING left for the Jasper house on Monday to spend the winter hunting the big horn sheep. He was accompanied by D. E. Noyes of the St. Albert road who will spend the winter with him, and took a train of eleven pack horses.

ON September 26th the police at Red Deer found four caddies of Myrtle Navy tobacco in the river which had evidently dropped off some freighter's load. They took the tobacco out of the caddies and dried it as well as possible. It remains in their hands awaiting a claimant.

H. S. YOUNG of the H. B. Co. arrived from Lac la Biche on Saturday last. Mr. Beeston, who went out with him, went east to Pitt and Battleford. Gardens and crops are good at Lac la Biche this year, better than those around Edmonton. At Whitefish lake and Victoria the crops are not so good.

THE grass, owing to the recent damp weather, is as green now as in August and cattle are doing remarkably well. Indeed all summer, although the grass was not as luxuriant as in some other years, owing to the absence of flies, cattle have averaged nearly fifty pounds all around heavier than usual.

A. M. BURGESS, deputy minister of interior, E. Deville, surveyor general and Mr. Hume, secretary of Mr. Burgess, arrived from Calgary on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Burgess is making his present tour on departmental business. On Thursday forenoon he received a number of visitors who had business of importance to bring under his notice and in the afternoon visited St. Albert in company with Supt. Griesbach. He also received a deputation from the board of trade regarding a safe for the registry office, which matter he promised would receive attention, as well as the matter of a new building for which an appropriation has been made. Friday forenoon was occupied in land matters at the land and registry offices, and the afternoon in visiting the schools, coal mines and other objects of special interest in and around town. The party left this morning for Calgary and Ottawa.

CROPS at the Beaver lake settlement are very poor this season owing to the dry weather, but there is abundance of hay and immense quantities have been put up, on which to winter the cattle, the raising of which is the chief industry followed. R. Logan who removed from Edmonton a couple of years ago, has the largest stock there, having over a hundred head of cattle besides horses and sheep, all of which are doing well and show a satisfactory increase. Mr. Logan has stabling and sheds for all of his stock except the horses. Beaver lake is just 36 miles east of Edmonton along the 14th base line, or about the same distance as Fort Saskatchewan by the present trail, or about twenty miles less than the distance now travelled to reach Beaver lake from Edmonton by the present trail. An exploration of the Beaver hills, which lie across the direct line to Beaver lake, should be made with a view of finding out if a direct road is practicable.

R. G. MCCONNELL of the geological survey and party arrived from the north on Wednesday. Mr. McConnell has spent the summer in exploring the hitherto unexplored territory lying between the Athabasca and Peace rivers, north of Lesser Slave lake. From the Landing he went down the Athabasca to Pelican river which enters the Athabasca from the west. The Pelican river was ascended, the Whishaw lakes crossed, and Loon river descended to the Peace river about forty miles below Vermilion. The Peace was then ascended to the mouth of the Smoky, and the portage to the head of Lesser Slave lake made. From Lesser Slave lake an exploration was made to the Loon river, which had already been explored. The usual route to the Landing was followed. The greater part of the country explored is of a marshy nature and covered with timber of greater or less value. The large lakes contained abundance of fish and many Indians were seen, all of whom appeared to be in good circumstances. The crop at Vermilion was very good and beginning to ripen when the party passed that point. The crops near the mouth of Smoky river were not seen. At Slave lake post was an excellent field of barley, but the potatoes were not as good as usual. The summer was rainy, but without frost.

At the quarterly general meeting of the board of trade held in R. Strachan's office on Thursday evening W. G. Ross of Fort Saskatchewan, D. Maloney and Geo. Hutton St. Albert, and S. S. Taylor, R. McKernan and C. L. Shaw of Edmonton were elected members.

A PRIVATE letter from Dr. Tulloch, late of Fort Saskatchewan, dated, Nairn, Scotland, September 10th, was received this mail, from which the following extracts are taken: "Mr. Duncan Macarthur, of Winnipeg revisited his native town Nairn, recently, after 18 years absence. Found great changes of course, chiefly for the better. Gave a most interesting and truthful lecture on Manitoba and the Northwest, chiefly on Manitoba, as one of the best fields for emigration for the cream of our surplus population. The ignorance of our people here on the subject is great. We must get them enlightened on the subject. Tho' it will not be an easy matter to get the west Highlanders and islanders to leave their poor homes and poorer crops. America and Canada are used as synonymous terms. American being used for Canadian. A few Highlanders who went not long ago to the States have recently returned poorer than they went. Indeed for one family a subscription was raised among the people at the fishing station to enable them to return from Canada where they were starving, etc. On making enquiry of the men I found Canada to be South California, U. S. A. I will try and get a few of our papers to send you a copy regularly and when you get them, of course direct from publisher, you will send them a copy of yours. I think it would do good here at least." The Dr. expects to return to the Northwest shortly.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, OCT. 5, 1889.

One hundred and fifty men are employed on the N. P. & M. buildings in Winnipeg. This is a good time to enquire, where are the men who leave the country in isolation and destruction of Winnipeg if the people dared to assist the introduction of a competing railway?

The Free Press publishes a Quebec despatch regarding the Northwest Central railway deal which says: There is excellent authority here for the statement that the Northern Pacific is at the bottom of the deal, that it is in fact the real purchaser and not the English company referred to which has only been used all along as a blind.

The report that the Montana & Canada railway is to be proceeded with this fall is given by the Helena Independent. The route differs from that proposed last spring, being from Lethbridge by way of Benton to Helena instead of to Helena direct. The part from Lethbridge by way of Benton, 180 miles, is to be placed under construction at once.

The commission appointed a year ago by the United States government to enquire into the Mormon question in Utah, will report in favor of making all the country, local, and school officials apportionees of the president; abolishing all military offices in the Territory; increasing the length of imprisonment for polygamy and enacting a law making it a penal offense for women to enter into the polygamous relation.

In an article on the beet root sugar industry in Germany Bradstreet's mentions that in the year '85-'86 the production was 4,467,303 quintals of 220 pounds each, and that 8.11 quintals of roots produced one quintal of sugar, and that sometimes 7.61 quintals of roots produced a quintal of sugar. The export was 4,897,000 quintals of raw and 1,544,000 quintals of refined sugar in 1885-'87. The home consumption of sugar is about 10 lbs per head. These figures are most interesting to the settlers on the black lands of Manitoba and the Northwest. They speak of possibilities which do not as yet enter into any calculation of the value of these lands. The experimental farms recently established at Indian Head and Brandon should be utilized in the direction of demonstrating just what these possibilities are.

A very careful editorial article in Bradstreet's of a recent issue deals with the question of commercial union between Canada and the United States. The article says that public opinion in New England is disposed to closer relations with Canada but that the people there favor a fair reciprocity treaty rather than either commercial or political union. As commercial union has been strongly supported by its Canadian advocates as a strictly business proposition it is perhaps worth while to notice just how the business men of New England regard this eminently business proposition. 1. Neither country can afford to agree upon a fixed schedule of duties, or a fixed system of internal taxes, which would have to remain in force, no matter what change of circumstances might take place, for any such period as ten years, or even five years; the experience of all industrial nations shows the absolute necessity of frequent changes in the system of taxation. But no arrangement for a shorter period than ten years would be of much value. 2. The treaty must, therefore, provide some machinery for making changes in the schedule of duties and rates of internal taxes which are adopted at the outset. But it is not to be expected that either country will bind itself to accept any changes which may be made by the legislative body of the other country; it must therefore be contemplated that changes will only go into effect after their adoption both by the congress at Washington and the Canadian Parliament at Ottawa. This conclusion, it is therefore held, must follow: The function of trying taxes and of varying them at will has been faithfully reserved by English-speaking nations to their popular representative bodies. But now it is seriously proposed that a great nation like the United States shall practically surrender to another country for one-tenth of our population one of the most vitally important attributes of its own sovereignty. Before we can make the next insignificant change in our tariff or internal laws we must ask for and obtain the consent of the parliament of Canada, and if that consent is refused, things must remain unchanged. "To state this result," the neutral countries, "is enough to show the absurdity of the scheme which involves it."

THE EXHIBITION.

The agricultural exhibition is to be held in Edmonton on Tuesday the 15th will be the ninth to take place here, a greater number than at any other place in Manitoba or the Northwest, west of Portage la Prairie on coast of its may be that the expectations regarding the progress of the country which seemed to be more than justified by the result of the first exhibition have not been realized, but its agricultural capabilities, which made such a good appearance then, have been more than established by its yearly exhibitions which have been held since. Any person who has seen these successive exhibitions must be fully convinced that the agricultural capabilities of this section of country are second to none in Canada and that its disabilities are less in number and importance than in almost any other. And yet an exhibition has never been held that might not have been improved by the addition of some article, animal or product which the owner failed to bring. The proper objects of agricultural exhibitions are so well known and the fact of their wide usefulness so well established that nothing needs to be said on these points. Throughout eastern Canada and the United States they have become permanent institutions, costing the farming community hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly; and there is no probability that such an expenditure would be incurred or such continued interest be taken unless value was received for the time and money spent as well as wear and tear on exhibits which is incurred. So well established is the fact of their usefulness, and so convinced is the Canadian government of the fact that the thousand dollars is appropriated yearly to aid in holding these exhibitions in the Northwest. The grant to each society of $250 a year, on the fulfilment of certain easy conditions, is a most substantial recognition of the desirability of bringing together in competition the best products that the country affords. Where the government shows such an active appreciation it is only to be expected that the people immediately interested, the settlers themselves, will respond as heartily by turning out on show day, by bringing their products for exhibition, and above all things by trying to excel in these products—for that is the mark of the matter. It is not necessary to remark that in all probability the continuance of the large government grant depends on the use to which the money is put, and that if it should be found after a few years' experience that it does not prove useful in establishing agricultural exhibitions in the Northwest it will be withdrawn. Every settler knows the misrepresentations regarding its agricultural capabilities by outsiders from which this district suffers to a very great degree than almost any other, owing to its isolation; and the loss which these misrepresentations occasion. The past season has been a most trying one throughout Manitoba and the Northwest—less in which good land showed to the best advantage. Of all parts probably the Edmonton district has come through the ordeal best. Public attention has been turned in this direction to a greater degree this season than ever before. Therefore the present seems to be a most appropriate time at which to make a strong effort to counteract these long standing reports by bringing forward the favorable facts and giving them the widest possible circulation. The best means by which to do this is to bring together on show day samples of the best that the country has produced this season, and then place it in the most good way in which it will do the most good. The government gives good assistance to bring about a successful show, the stage and railway companies give every assistance to the forwarding of products, it only remains for the people themselves to do their share by bringing out their products on show day, and helping by counsel and otherwise in the first place to make the show a success and in the next place to see that it is handled to produce the best results. Every exhibitor cannot win a prize, the show cannot be run to suit every one, but everyone can do something towards making the affair a local success, and on that success the general usefulness of the exhibition depends.
